Stopping Server Farms in Kalamazoo.

I recently saw several articles about a local business owner selling their site for an AI server farm. There is significant research to show that these things are not only wasteful and environmentally destructive, but significantly raise utility prices in the cities that they are building. As a citizen of Kalamazoo, I am writing to express my concern about these server farms popping up within the city. I'm hopefully adding my voice to a choir to state that I do not want these types of businesses in my city and community, and I hope that local government will take action to prevent them from showing up.

Thank you for your time,
Nathaniel McMahon.
